

Assembly Gets College Scholarship Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio would subsidize college students on the basis of ability as well as need under a state scholarship bill now pending in the General Assembly.

Rep. Donna Pope, R-12 Parma, introduced Thursday the measure which calls for a program to award 4,000 merit scholarships a year at $300 each.

She said the awards would be on the basis of achievement, including grade point averages, as well as ability. They also would involve competitive examinations specified by the Ohio Board of Regents, Mrs. Pope said.

She noted that Ohio already has an instructional grant program to help students based on their financial need. "It is unfair to many middle income families which have academically successful students who are excluded from any state aid under the grant program," she added.

Mrs. Pope's bill, which has 24 co-sponsors from both parties, carries with it an appropriation of $3.6 million to run the program for the first two years.

The Senate and House received 27 new bills Thursday as the lawmakers held brief, nonvoting floor sessions and headed home for a legislative recess until Feb. 18.

House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, said that chamber will hold skeleton sessions next week to permit the introduction of bills to continue.

The Legislative Service Commission, which drafts most bills, was reported swamped with about 800 bill requests after having already helped prepare nearly 400.

In other developments, Rep. Pete Crossland, D-42 Akron, said he is having a bill drafted that would require all state employees who earn more than $15,000 a year to make disclosures of all of their income sources. Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes, shortly after taking office, rescinded an order by his Democratic predecessor, John J. Gilligan, for those employees to make such disclosures.

Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, introduced a major bill, requested by Atty. Gen. William J. Brown to revise and toughen Ohio's drug laws. It's practically the same bill that passed the House last year but died in the Senate.

Brown described as a "key element" in the measure a provision that mandates minimum prison sentences for trafficking in drugs, stealing them, and corrupting another person with drugs. Anyone convicted of those crimes would have no opportunity for a suspended sentence, probation or parole.

Possession of small amounts of marijuana (less than three ounces) would remain a misdemeanor, but the existing penalty of a $1,000 fine and one year jail would be reduced to $500 and a maximum of two months in jail.

Among some of the other newly introduced bills was another by Wilkowski which would let counties do away with sheriff's offices and have their functions contracted out to cities.

The Toledoan said his measure is primarily for his home county of Lucas, but its permissive language would enable any other county to use it. The sheriff's office could only be eliminated by a vote of the people, he said.

Wilkowski said sheriffs of both political parties have for years hired "political hacks" as deputies and in other areas have failed to keep up with the times. He wants to bring counties "into the 20th Century before the 21st is upon us," he said.

His bill provides for clerks of courts to handle the sheriff's paper work, and for county commissioners to contract with the largest municipality for police protection.

Terror Bombings In San Francisco Rise To 22 Blasts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A bomb has exploded in a television station building, the 22nd terrorist bombing in the San Francisco Bay area in two years.

Police said the Thursday night explosion at KRON-TV here caused no injuries. It was preceded by an anonymous telephone call from a man who said, "I'm from the New World Liberation Front. There's a bomb set to go off in your building in five minutes."

Police believe a tough new type of radical dedicated to violence is responsible for the terrorist attacks.

Federal buildings, General Motors offices, Bank of America branches, oil company buildings, schools and brokerage houses have been the targets.

"We expect more of the same kind of thing," Capt. Larry Stuefoten, head of police intelligence in San Jose, Calif., said in an interview before Thursday night's explosion. "We believe the extremists are working to exploit hard times against the establishment, Watergate and that kind of thing."

San Francisco Police Lt. Richard Klapp said a pipe bomb containing TNT went off in a stairwell on a side of the KRON building. He said damage was confined to that area.

"I felt the explosion on the fourth floor," said newsman Curt Rutter. "I heard a goodsized kaboom and felt vibrations."

The building was not vacated despite the warning. Francis A. Martin III, station operations manager, said about 40 people were inside.

Klapp said another station, KGO-TV, received a bomb threat earlier in the day, but police searched the building and found no device.

He said the KRON bombing seemed related to a New World Liberation Front communique received Tuesday by radio station KPFA in Berkeley that was critical of broadcast station programming.

In the communique, the New World Liberation Front claimed responsibility for other bombings this week in the bay area — a $100,000 blast at a San Jose office building Monday and a minor explosion at an Air Force radar station near Half Moon Bay on Tuesday. No injuries were reported.

Police believe the group is a stepchild of Weatherman, which splintered from Students for a Democratic Society in the 1960s. The Weather Underground claimed responsibility last week for bombing the State Department in Washington, D.C., and planting a bomb at the Oakland federal building which police discovered and detonated in the street.

Stuefoten and Sgt. Thomas Johnson said intelligence data indicates the new radical is disciplined, highly intelligent and convinced that only terror — not demonstrations — will bring about social reform.

"They protect themselves by knowing every person in that unit. They live, eat, and sleep with them, and by God, if you have an informant you get rid of him," Johnson said. "It's becoming increasingly difficult for us to find out just what the heck is going on."

Little Girl Killed In Icy Collision

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Jennifer Beale, 6, of suburban Delhi Township, was killed Thursday night when the car in which she was riding crashed into a Queen City Metro bus.

Police said both vehicles slid on the ice on a Price Hill section street.

Jobless Rate Climbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate jumped to 8.2 per cent in January, its highest level in 33 years as 7.5 million Americans were unable to find jobs last month, the government reported today.

The January rate was a full percentage point above December's 7.2 per cent level, the single biggest monthly increase since December 1953 when it also rose 1 per cent — from 3.5 per cent to 4.5 per cent.

Heavy layoffs were spread across the economy last month, the Labor Department said, affecting blue- and white-collar workers, teen-agers, women and men.

The sharp increase in unemployment since the fall is evidence of the speed with which the recession has spread through the economy and apparently is much more severe than the Ford administration has forecast. The administration's latest prediction is that joblessness will peak at 8.5 per cent this year but continuing layoffs since the January data was collected now indicates it could rise even higher.

The unemployment rate has not approached 8 per cent since October 1949 when it hit 7.9 per cent, and that was for only one month because of a coal miners' strike.

Unemployment hit a peak of 7.5 per cent in May 1958 and remained at that level for three months during what was then regarded as the worst recession since the Great Depression of the 1930s.

More people are out of work today than at any time since the depression years, but the work force now is much larger, having grown from 52 million to about 91 million.

During the 1930s, the unemployment rate rose to 25 per cent of the work force.

To ease the burden of unemployment, the jobless now have unemployment insurance, averaging $61 a week nationwide, plus food stamps, welfare and other benefits to fall back on.

In mid-January, 4.7 million Americans collected unemployment checks.

Despite the benefits, the surge in unemployment will increase pressure on Congress to approve proposed tax cuts and other measures to stimulate the ailing economy.

Chairman Alan Greenspan of the President's Council Economics

Advisers told the Joint Economic Committee Thursday that unemployment could reach 8.5 per cent this year, the highest administration estimate so far.

The administration has repeatedly revised its estimates upward in recent weeks, and predicts that joblessness will average about 8.1 per cent over the year.

In his economic report to Congress this week, President Ford predicted joblessness would average 8.1 per cent before the year, and probably not drop below 7.5 per cent any time during 1976. That would assure exceptionally high jobless levels through the 1976 election.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax rebates of up to $200 on 1974 income taxes would be in the mail late this spring under an emergency tax-cut bill swiftly gaining ground in Congress.

The rebate of 10 per cent of 1974 taxes up to the $200 maximum are part of the $20.1-billion tax-cut bill approved Thursday night by a bipartisan 28 to 5 vote of the House Ways and Means Committee.

The bill also provides lower taxes on this year's income and some tax incentives to help businesses.

The tax package, which will go to the full House after it concludes its 10-day recess on Feb. 18, provides $4 billion more in tax cuts than President Ford has proposed. Ford has said he is withholding a decision on the Democratic-sponsored antirecession measure until after it had gone through both the House and the Senate.

Meanwhile, the Senate Finance Committee begins work today on a bill to suspend Ford's $3-per-barrel tariff hike on imported oil. The House earlier this week approved the suspension by a 209 to 114 margin and Senate action is expected within the next two weeks.

The first two witnesses before the Senate panel, Democratic Gov. Thomas P. Salmon of Vermont and former federal energy chief John C.

Sawhill, opposed the tariff hike, which Ford claims would encourage energy conservation by driving up prices.

The House rejection of the tariff followed by the start of the 10-day recess Thursday prompted Ford to claim that Congress "really has done basically nothing" to face up to the nation's energy problems.

Under the tax-cut bill approved by the Ways and Means panel, all taxpayers would get a rebate. For those with gross income up to $20,000, the rebate would be 10 per cent of their taxes, to $200.

However, above that income level, the rebate would be phased back down to $100 for those with $30,000 or more in gross income.

Ford has urged a 12 per cent rebate of 1974 tax liability, with a top refund of $1,000.

The committee also approved lower taxes on this year's income by:

—Hiking the minimum standard deduction, which benefits lower-income persons, from $1,300 to $1,900 for single taxpayers and to $2,500 for couples' joint tax returns.

—Increasing the traditional standard deduction, used by taxpayers who do not itemize on their returns, from 15 per cent of gross income to 16 per cent, and boosting the maximum amount from $2,000 to $2,500 for singles and

Meanwhile, layoffs are continuing, with General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. both announcing new plant closings for next week which will mean temporary furloughs for 15,300 more workers.

Layoffs in the auto industry this week affect 275,000 workers, 40 per cent of the companies' 684,000 blue collar workers.

The Labor Department said Thursday it received 731,600 new claims for unemployment insurance during the week ended Jan. 25, bringing the total first-time claims during a three-week period last month to 2.5 million.

62-Year-Old Man County's First Fatal

Pickaway County recorded its first traffic fatality of 1975 when Harry C. Peters, 62, Route 1, Chillicothe, was killed in a single-car accident, 8:20 p.m. Thursday.

Peters was traveling north on Route 23 when he drove off the right berm striking a guardrail.

The auto continued across a south access road to Gold Cliff Park striking another guardrail.

Force of the impact knocked the guardrail from its posts into a nearby field.

The auto came back into the northbound lanes of Route 23 coming to rest along Gold Cliff Park.

According to Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy James Dixon and J. Phillip Brown, Peters was alive when they arrived at the scene. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Berger Hospital by Dr. W. Pollock.

Dr. Ray Carroll, County Coroner, stated that Peters died of head injuries and vascular collapse.

Funeral arrangements are being completed by Wellman Funeral Home.

Striding In Jobless Line New Experience For Many

By DAVID TREADWELL
Associated Press Writer

Standing in the unemployment line has become a necessary part of the lifestyle of an ever growing number of Ohioans — around 160,000 in December and about half again as many in January, according to the state employment services bureau.

And their reactions range from stoic acceptance to outspoken resentment.

"Sure it's a drag standing in line, but I don't mind coming in that much," said a 22-year-old aircraft parts worker who has been out of a job since December.

PUCO Gets Rate Appeal

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co., unable to reach an agreement with Cincinnati officials, has appealed to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio for a 23 per cent electric rate hike for homes and a 38 per cent hike for businesses.

Cincinnati City Council regulates rates within the city.

The PUCO application included a request for temporary rate relief in the form of an 8.6 per cent surcharge on base rates for all electric customers while deliberations continue over the permanent increases.

CG&E also said it would reduce by $4 million, a request for a $37 million increase for residential customers in southwestern Ohio outside of Cincinnati.

CG&E has 165,000 customers in Cincinnati, 144,200 of them residential.

"I've never had to do this. It's an experience," said a 52-year-old clerk who became unemployed last month for the first time in 23 years.

"It's hard to get a parking place, but once you're inside there's not much problem," said a woman who has five children and receives $76 a week in unemployment benefits.

"The lines here are too long. I've been here since one and it's a quarter to two now," said a woman who lost her wedding job in October and spends her free time writing letters and looking for work.

State officials have searched for ways to cut down the lines, speed up the processing and get out the eagerly awaited checks more rapidly.

"We've hired in the neighborhood of 1,000 people since early December to help with the load," said Beman Pound, state unemployment compensation director.

In addition, new claims offices have been opened in Cincinnati, Columbus and Medina, he said, and a fourth is scheduled to begin operating this month in Cleveland.

"We've done everything humanly possible," an employment services spokesman in Cincinnati said.

Most officials agree that only a leveling off or drop in the unemployment rate can improve things further.

Meanwhile, a claims office manager in Columbus has instructed his 73 fulltime and temporary employees to "keep smiling and be overly courteous" to help soothe ruffled feelings.

He also had a word for those in line. "I know it's difficult, but they're going to have to have patience," he said. "Without patience, they just get more upset and that doesn't help us a bit."

Rhodes Bares Housing Bond Issue Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes called today for a constitutional amendment to guarantee the state authority to make low interest housing loans through the sale of revenue bonds.

The proposed amendment would clarify and expand the authority of the state's 1974 housing law which set up the Ohio Housing Development Board.

Rhodes said the program was jeopardized by the threat of court action to test the legality of the issuing of bonds by the board without a public vote.

The Rhodes plan would empower the seven-member board:

—To sell revenue bonds at 2 to 4 per cent below market rates.

—Make direct loans to housing developers.

—Purchase home mortgages already held by banks.

—Participate in federal subsidy programs.

A major thrust of the governor's plan for new, upgraded and renovated housing is aimed at senior citizens centers and nursing home and health care facilities for the elderly.

Rhodes said the loans could be made to help the 600 or so nursing homes which failed to meet the Jan. 1, 1975 deadline for installation of sprinkler systems.

"You cannot throw these people (nursing home patients) out on the street," Rhodes said.

"The Ohio housing industry is now virtually at a standstill, with the result that thousands of Ohioans are living in dirty, unsafe, rundown housing," Rhodes said. "This proposed amendment, and the program to follow, will stimulate a resurgence of the housing industry in Ohio."

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — A sharp early selloff on the news of a post-World War II high in the nation's unemployment rate left the stock market with a broad loss today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 6.33 at 707.84. Losers outpaced gainers by more than a 2-1 margin in moderately active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow skidded more than 12 points in the early going after the government reported that the jobless rate jumped to 8.2 per cent last month, hitting its highest level since 1941. After that the market recovered somewhat with an evident boost from buyers who had been waiting for a dip in prices after the rally of the past two months.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down .19 at 75.09.

Activity was halted on the NYSE for 36 minutes shortly after the opening because of computer trouble. Similar halts had occurred once last April, once in October and twice in January.

The Big Board's composite index of all its listed common stocks was down .31 at 41.51.

County Board Gets Check From State

County Superintendent Edward J. Martin reported to the Pickaway County Board of Education that the Division of Health and Physical Education, State Department of Education has submitted a check to the County Board for $3,150.00 to provide 30 films in the drug-health education curriculum area. The films are titled "Inside-Out" Series and will be circulated out of the county media center. Schools and civic groups not participating in the media center may use films for a $3 service charge.

School board member liability insurance was purchased from the Republic-Franklin Insurance Company, Insurance Company of North America for county board members. Leo Kahanek, Mrs. Dan Davis and Mrs. Carlene Francis from the Pickaway County Health Department were present to discuss the services now rendered to the county schools by the county health department.

The curtailment of services may be unavoidable in the future unless additional funds become available to sustain the program at its present level. The representatives were present to apprise the board of the problems and to pave the way for a future meeting with the board and the county health board.

A request by the Logan Elm Board of Education to have one of its members to serve on the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School Board was submitted. Since there will not be a

PICCA Receives $16,156 Grant

The Pickaway County Community Action received a check for $4,039 today, which is part of a grant for $16,156 released by State Development Director James A. Duerk.

The grant is for antipoverty activities in Pickaway County.

Nancy Morgan, director of PICCA, advised that the Board of Directors will set up guidelines to determine who will receive the financial aid.

The funds, according to Duerk, will be used to winterize homes of 25 elderly persons and low-income families and to provide emergency food, medical, fuel and utility assistance to 200 families.

The grant is part of a special $3 million allocation by the Ohio Legislature to the state's 48 Community Action Agencies to support activities authorized under the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964. The State Controlling Board recently voted to release the money.

PICCA, which received 25 per cent of the grant today, will receive the remainder during the next six months.

The amount of the grant was determined by the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development, the State Economic Opportunity Office.

Icy Highways Cause Of Two Injury Accidents

Icy road conditions was the cause of two injury accidents on Pickaway County Highways Thursday.

Linda K. Boham, 22, Tarlton, southeast on Route 56, was stopping to make a left turn onto the Circleville-Tarlton Road when her auto slid on the snow covered road.

Going left of center, the Boham vehicle struck a northwest bound car driven by Robert Arthur Winland, 26, 1106 N. Court St.

Winland's auto went off the road striking a telephone pole.

Ms. Boham was treated and released at Berger Hospital for laceration to the lip and knee. Bernice J. Harper, 26, Tarlton, passenger in the Boham auto, was treated and released for abrasions to the forehead.

Deputy J. Phillip Brown investigated the accident.

Glenna S. Fulton, 32, Route 4, Orient and her two passengers, Stephen M. Fulton, 4, Route 1, Orient and Robert L. Fulton, 3, Route 1, Orient, were referred to a doctor for minor injuries received in a single-car accident, 8:25 p.m. Thursday.

According to the report taken by Deputy John Bost, Ms. Fulton was traveling south on the Circleville-London-Northern Road when she applied her brakes and slid on the ice-covered road.

Losing control, the auto went left of center and into a fence.

No citation was issued due to the highway conditions.

Heart Fund Drive Continues Through Month

Pickaway County residents are reminded of the current Heart Fund Drive underway throughout the entire month of February rather than the traditional Heart Fund Sunday of years past.

Bob McKelvey, County Coordinator for Heart Fund comments, "We are having a few problems where some of the area residents are not aware of the change of the drive this year. Our volunteer workers are meeting resistance from residents that are cautious of fraudulent practices."

All of our volunteers have proper credentials and are donating their time to help the Pickaway County Heart Association to achieve the $8,000 goal that has been established for the 1975 drive.

We would like again to remind residents that the drive is underway throughout the entire month of February.

McKelvey also issued an appeal to the people for a chairman needed in Washington Twp. While there are many volunteers, the area is in need of a chairman. Any interested person should contact McKelvey at 474-6011.

Anyone interested in chairing Walnut Twp. should contact Mrs. Lou Deal, 983-2687.

Tires Taken From 1975 Autos

Thieves went to the Clifton Motors Sales lot and took tires from two 1975 autos, sometime between 5 p.m. Wednesday and 7 a.m. Thursday, according to Pickaway County Sheriff's Authorities.

Clyde Cook, sales manager, reported the thieves entered the two unlocked vehicles and released a button inside the glove compartment.

The value of the tire taken from the 1975 vehicle belonging to Charles Tomlinson was $127.

The second vehicle was owned by Salvatore J. Zangri, Chillicothe. Value of the tire was $140.

Deputy James Dixon is continuing the investigation.

PCSO Shows Films At Three Schools

Bill Dountz of the Community Relations Bureau of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department visited three area schools last week.

At the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School, he presented a film to 300 students.

"The Riddle of the Friendly Stranger" and "The Talking Car" were shown to 78 Walnut Twp. School students and 128 first, second, and third graders at Washington Twp. School.

Safety pamphlets were also distributed at the schools.

Two Students Named Family Leaders

Two area students were named 1975 Betty Crocker Family Leaders of Tomorrow at their respective high schools. Amy E. Curtiss was the leader selected at Circleville High School and Roy G. Duffey was the winner at Logan Elm High School.

These two students won their honor by scoring highest at their schools in a written knowledge and attitude examination administered to seniors throughout the county on Dec. 3.

Each will receive a specially designed award from General Mills, sponsor of the annual Betty Crocker Search for Leadership in Family Living, and becomes eligible for state and national honors.

From the ranks of all school winners in the state, a State Family Leader of Tomorrow is selected through judging centered on test performance and receives a $1,500 college scholarship.

The second-ranking student in the state will receive a $500 scholarship. Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corporation will present "The Annals of America", a 20-volume reference work, to the state winner's school.

Representing every state and the District of Columbia, the 51 Betty Crocker Family Leaders of Tomorrow, together with a faculty advisor will gather in Washington, D. C. in April for an expense-paid educational tour and to compete for the All-American Family Leader of Tomorrow. The national winner will receive a $5,000 college scholarship. Second place winner will receive $4,000; third, $3,000; fourth, $2,000.

C&SOE Rate Hike Attacked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A state hearing examiner refused Wednesday to endorse an emergency rate increase request from Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., contending the utility did not argue that emergency relief was vital to 1975 construction.

William Donohue deferred a decision on the case to the three commissioners of the Public Utilities Commission, breaking precedent set in earlier rate increase request cases.

Donohue was hearing examiner on requests from the Ohio Power Co. and Ohio Edison Co. He recommended full PUCO approval in both cases.

C&SOE is asking PUCO approval of a 12 per cent surcharge on most of its billings.

Filtered History

If Soviet propagandists ever have their version of history accepted as the true text, there will be much relearning to do in the classroom. An English-language organ, Moscow News, which is published in Moscow for the edification of foreigners, has been explaining recently what World War II was all about.

It was, according to the publication, "a just war of liberation waged by the Soviet people for the freedom and independence of their socialist homeland against Fascist German and its allies—Italy, Hungary, Romania and Finland."

Those quivering eyebrows on the countenances of World War II vets will positively take off when they learn that "the biggest battles in World War II—Moscow, Stalingrad, Kursk and Berlin—took place on the Soviet-German front."

Not a word is written about the United States, Britain or the other allies, the Normandy invasion or the war in the Pacific.

A nice piece of fiction, but the trouble is the official version is all many inhabitants of a closed society might ever see. It once was suggested, not entirely facetiously, that the most effective weapon the West had against Soviet propaganda would be bombers filled with Sears Roebuck and Montgomery Ward catalogs. A few histories of World War II wouldn't do any harm.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Friday, Feb. 7, the 38th day of 1975. There are 327 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
In 1945, it was disclosed that President Franklin Roosevelt, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin were meeting in the Black Sea area. It was the history-making Yalta conference.

On this date—
In 1812, the English writer Charles Dickens was born in Portsmouth.

In 1885, the American writer Sinclair Lewis was born in Sauk Center, Minn.

In 1904, a fire virtually wiped out downtown Baltimore.

In 1941, British forces captured the Libyan port of Bengasi during World War II.

In 1962, 298 miners were killed in a coal mine explosion at Saarbrücken, Germany.

Ten years ago: U.S. aircraft struck at targets in North Vietnam to retaliate for attacks against Americans in South Vietnam.

Five years ago: Israeli planes bombed and sank an Egyptian mine layer in the Red Sea after the sinking of an Israeli naval vessel by Egyptian frogmen at Elath, Israel.

One year ago: The small Caribbean island of Grenada was granted independence by Britain.

Today's birthdays: Writer Jack Talese is 43. Actor Eddie Bracken is 55.

A General Reaction

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — "You may remember me: I was 'one of those s.o.b.'s who worked for Harry Truman,'" writes Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan (ret.) from his home in Alexandria, Va. (The quote was from the late Drew Pearson.)

"I enjoyed your letter re the UN (Ed. Note: an open letter to President Ford suggesting that the U.S. might somehow survive even though we quit the organization) and heartily agree. 'I've heard that it is fun to be a sucker if one can afford it. We've afforded it for many years, and it's not fun any more.'

"The ineffective mess of the UN was a great sorrow to HST. He had such high hopes for it and a sincere belief when he helped start it that it was the answer to world peace. Sincerely."

For the most different kind of sports book read "Moe Berg — Athlete, Scholar . . . Spy," by Louis Kaufman, Barbara Fitzgerald and Tom Sewell (Little, Brown). There never was a ball player quite like Moe. It was said that he could speak 11 languages, which was almost true. He could also room with red-neck illiterates who had been shipped to the Washington Senators by Clark Friffith's man Joe Engel, owner of the Chattanooga Lookouts.

Moe was Princeton '23. He majored in the Romance languages. He remained romantic through the rest of his bachelor life, as several wives of baseball writers will attest.

But his interests extended far beyond the languages he mastered so readily. He was fascinated by the law. Whenever the Washington ballclub played Boston — during his years with the team — he'd take a couple of the accompanying writers to a law course at Harvard, before going to Fenway Park. It was during one of those classes that I learned that torts was neither a dessert nor a naughty girl.

Moe couldn't hit the size of his hat, but he was a fine catcher and a fluent aficionado of the sport. For the starchy Atlantic magazine he once wrote: "Baseball men agree with the philosopher that perfection — which means a pennant to them — is attainable only through a proper combination of opposites. A team equally strong in attack and in defense, well-proportioned as a unit, with, of course, those intangibles, morale, enthusiasm, and direction — that is the story of success in baseball. Good fielding and pitching, without hitting, or vice versa, is like Ben Franklin's half a pair of scissors — ineffectual. Twenty game winners or .400 hitters do not ensure victory. Ne quid nimis . . ."

One-time roomie Dave "Sheriff" Harris might not have dug that.

Moe made the baseball junkie to Japan in early 1934, along with Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and a lot of other stars. It was his second trip. He had gone there two years earlier with Ted Lyons of the Chicago White Sox and Lefty O'Doul, then of the Brooklyn Dodgers, to coach young Japanese ball players. Sometime between those two visits, Berg became a secret agent. The details are still sparse, but when he returned in 1934 he went armed with a letter to "American Diplomatic and Consular Officers," instructing them to assist him in any way he desired. It was signed by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, no less.

One day during that tour, Berg failed to show up for a game. He had two excuses: 1) He felt ill, and 2) he wished to visit Mrs. Cecil Burton Lyon, wife of the third secretary of the U.S. Embassy in Peking. He had read that she had just given birth to a baby girl at Tokyo's St. Luke's International Moe was 1) not ill; 2) didn't know Mrs. Lyon. Instead, he found his way to the roof of the hospital, which commanded a fine view of Tokyo, and took pictures which were later used by Gen. Jimmy Doolittle's Tokyo Raiders and the early B-29 raids on that capital.

Hospital.

Moe would never tell me, or even his good friend Al Schacht, what he was up to during the war. When we'd ask, he'd put his right forefinger against his lips and look mysterious. Since he was close to Gen. Leslie R. Groves, head of the A-bomb development, I came to believe that Moe's job was to kill Nazi physicists during their trips out of Hitler's domain.

Better than catching for Washington.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

Many sportsmen, especially in high school, will try harder if they know they'll get their name in the newspaper if they do an outstanding job. To some, this is the main reason they try so hard. But if they get little or no publicity, why should they try that "extra bit"?

I believe that the "Circleville Herald" discriminates against certain athletic teams simply because they go to a certain school.

In a sports article on Monday, February 3, your newspaper congratulated the Circleville Tigers for placing fourth in the Hamilton Invitational Wrestling Tournament. They listed the names of all Circleville wrestlers who placed, and even gave the names of the reserve wrestlers who placed in their tournament.

However, despite the fact that Teays Valley was the actual winner of the tournament, the only recognition you gave them was half the headline and a few lines of type. Someone reading your story probably wouldn't even notice that Teays Valley placed first out of 16 schools; more likely, they'd think Circleville was the over-all winner.

Just because our schools are rivals doesn't allow you to treat our fine athletes as sub-human. It is for this reason that I feel you should, in all fairness, publish the names of these Viking "grapplers" who, under the guidance of Coach Floyd Gray, placed in the Hamilton Tournament.

Placing first: Ted Ross-145, Bill Breen-155, Mike Wilson-175; placing second: Mike Figgins-112; Bill Hurley-167; placing third: Greg Branham-98, Bill Toole-Heavyweight; placing fourth: Roger Struckman-185; and placing fifth: Matt Thomas-132.

I realize that you are not compelled to print this letter, and I can't force you to print it. I can only say that, if you do not, the ones who will lose the most are your readers, who rely on you to print the whole, unbiased truth. After all, this is America, remember?

Sincerely,
CINDY BEATTIE

Dear Editor:

As a subscriber to The Herald, I have an opinion I wish to express in behalf of the Teays Valley wrestling team and the fans.

With the outstanding record Teays Valley now has, naturally we fans were anxious to see it well published in our local paper.

The headline in Monday's sports page was fine. "TV Wins Hamilton Tournament; Circleville Finishes Fourth." The complete article totaling seven inches in length contained one 8-word sentence on Teays Valley: "Teays Valley won the meet with 110½ points."

The remainder of the article told the names, weights and wins of the Circleville wrestlers, beautifully worded.

I sincerely think it is great to give all this on the young men on the Circleville team but I feel the Teays Valley wrestlers should be equally praised.

I am sure that our wonderful coach, Floyd Gray, would be more than pleased to supply the information about our young men.

I have attended each of our meets and tournaments this year and noticed the Teays Valley fans cheered the Circleville and Hamilton boys on in their endeavors also.

I for one, would like to see a complete article on the Teays Valley placings at the Hamilton Tournament. The local sports page is the main reason for our subscribing.

We have a wonderful group of well deserving young men and many of them are personal friends of the Circleville squad. Thank you for understanding.

Most sincerely,
MRS. MCKINLEY ROSS

Norwalk Man Wins Payments Again

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Industrial Commission had no right to stop permanent disability payments to a paralyzed Norwalk man who later learned to use a wheel chair and got a job, the Ohio Supreme Court has ruled.

Under Ohio's disability law, the court said, Richard Gassman should have been considered permanently disabled even though he overcame the handicap.

Gassman, a painter, was paralyzed from the waist down when he fell 95 feet on Sept. 16, 1959. He was awarded permanent disability for life.

Later, he learned to use a wheel chair, married, purchased a home, adopted a child and in 1969 got a job as assistant personnel director at a Columbus hospital.

Tax Break Bill Pushed By Solon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Re-enlisting or joining the Ohio National Guard would mean a bonus and tax cut under a bill introduced into the General Assembly on Tuesday.

Rep. Rondey H. Hughes, R-78 Bellefontaine, has proposed a bonus of 10 days pay for re-enlistment and a $200 bonus for joining the guard.

He also recommended an additional $650 exemption from the state income tax and proposed that the state pick up half of the tuition tab for those enrolled in state higher education institutions.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Our son, 14, still has a high-pitched voice. It embarrasses him. Are there any hormone shots he could take that would help him? Our doctor doesn't think so.

Mrs. V. A. S., Calif.

Dear Mrs. S.:

The pre-adolescent high-pitched voice sometimes persists even into adulthood. In most instances, the gradual change to a lower, more masculine voice starts at 12 or 13.

It is true that some cases are attributed to some hormonal inadequacy. Undoubtedly, your own doctor has reason to believe that this does not exist in your son's case.

If there were an obvious deficiency in hormones your doctor would, of course, use the means that are now available to correct a hormone imbalance.

In the absence of any known physical or hormone problem, well-programmed speech therapy can be of great benefit.

It is most important that the speech therapy begin quickly so that your son will be spared more of the embarrassment he already feels. The results can often be dramatic and gratifying.

Only One Babe

By JIM BISHOP

Babe Ruth never grew up. He was impulsive and boyish to the end. A great deal of what sportswriters called the Babe's "color" was the result of suppression and repression at St. Mary's Home for Boys near Baltimore. When he got out into the world, the Babe discovered the delightful sins of gluttony, lust and pride.

The home run was not an electrifying spectacle when the Babe signed with Jack Dunn's Orioles. Baseball was shut-out pitching, the hit-and-run play, the squeeze bunt.

When I was a reporter on "The Mirror," I used to get off and sit up high in Yankee Stadium watching him swing for the deep right field bleachers. Even when he struck out, there was majesty in the way the Babe's body twisted like a Tootsie Roll in summer.

Before my time, he was a phenomenal southpaw pitcher. He had 29 consecutive shutout innings in World Series play. His fastball looked like a blurred aspirin.

Baseball was the symbol of American sports. The Babe, with all his sins, made a shrine of it. He discovered women when he wore a Boston Red Sox uniform and, for a long time, he was loud and inexhaustible. He ate big T-bone steaks surrounded with pork chops.

He boasted that he could outpitch anybody, and he could. He said he could hit the longest home runs in the world, and he cracked one at spring training that hit the dirt 560 feet from home plate.

I met the Babe casually. He was all chest and nostrils. I was the first to buy a copy of "The Babe Ruth Story," by Bob Considine, who gentled him when Ruth was dying of cancer. I was among the first to buy Robert Creamer's book "Babe." In both books I drew the inference that when the big kid got out of the orphanage his joys were so ecstatic that, like the legendary Lennie, he didn't know when he was hurting someone, even himself.

By 1918 the Babe, as a pitcher, was hitting more home runs than all the players in the rest of the league. Ping Bodie thought he was the biggest eater in both leagues. He watched Ruth and surrendered. "Anybody can knock off a three-pound steak and a bottle of chili for openers has got me," he said. For openers.

He swamped himself with booze and beer so often that, in a game, he saw two balls whizzing toward the plate and decided to wallop the bigger one. More pitchers deliberately walked the Babe than any player before or since.

After a few drinks and a heavy meal I suddenly get a palpitation of the heart that lasts for about 15 minutes. It stops just as suddenly as it comes on. It's terrifying.

W. L., N.J.

Dear Mr. L.:

You describe what seems to be "paroxysmal tachycardia." This means a sudden onset of a rapid heartbeat. Many people describe the sensation as if their heart were "running away" from them.

Alcohol, excess tobacco, extreme fatigue and stimulating drugs all can be responsible.

It can be most meaningful in the establishment of a correct diagnosis if an electrocardiogram could be done at the time of the attack. Doctors could then be better able to determine if other reasons are the cause.

For simple tachycardia, there are a number of drugs, such as quinidine, which are recommended by physicians to "break" the attacks when they occur.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH . . .

Patients must really understand their illnesses in order to get the maximum benefit from the treatment that is prescribed.

Once he was carried north on a stretcher and the sports writers called in "Babe's Million Dollar Belly Ache." He was fined $5,000 for breaking training and disobeying managerial orders, but only two things made him sob. One was the death of his first wife; the other was being suspended from playing ball.

The Yankees of 1927 were the greatest. Tony Lazzeri hit .309; Earle Combs hit .356; Bob Meusel hit .337; Lou Gehrig hit .373; Ruth hit .356. It was called Murderers' Row. Waite Hoyt's pitching was 22-7; Herb Pennock 19-8; Urban Shocker 18-6; Wilcy Moore 19-7.

That year the Yankees won 110, lost 44. The Philadelphia Athletics in second place were 19 games behind. The Babe said he would hit 60 home runs. At the 150th game, with four left to play, he had four to go. In the 152nd game, he belted one out of sight with the bases loaded. In the 153rd game of the season, he hit his 58th and 59th.

The pitchers wouldn't give him anything. On Sept. 30th, 1927, he cocked his bat, reached across the plate, and pulled a low ball all the way down past the right field foul pole into the stands. In the locker room he yelled, "Sixty! Count'em! Let me see some son of a bitch match that!"

He was a braggart, a soft touch, a sucker, a huge boy with enormous appetites. When his playing days were over, he felt baseball owed him a job as manager. They bounced him to the Boston Braves with vague promises. The Babe was a drawing card; a monkey on a stick.

He couldn't be a manager they said, because he couldn't manage himself. They demeaned him, made him cut ribbons to open department stores. He was 41 years old when he hit three home runs, the last — his 714th — over the roof.

The Babe was dying of cancer of the neck when he got into uniform for the final time on June 13, 1948. He bowed, he thanked 60,000 fans. The young ballplayers whispered behind their gloves about his croaking voice, his caved-in face.

None of them was worthy of tying the Babe's shoelaces . . .

The Yakima Indian wars started when Chief Kamaiaikin of the Yakimas left the reservation. Before the war ended, the Indians had attacked Seattle, Wash., steamers. The war ended after 700 infantry, cavalry troops and artillery were brought into action. Chief Kamaiaikin fled to Canada, but other Indian leaders were hanged.

The Heart And Children, Protection Begins At Birth

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of a series of three articles presented during Heart Fund Month to inform readers of The Herald, provided by The Pickaway County Heart Association, about the latest advances in combating heart and blood vessel diseases.

Are high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, heart attack and stroke just diseases that happen to "old folks?"

It's true that time, body abuse and a combination of risk factors encourage the development of these heart and blood vessel diseases, says Dr. Elliot Rapaport, president of the American Heart Association.

"But many people don't realize that heart disease in one or more forms can begin at birth, or before. Medical science has identified 35 congenital heart defects, one or more of which are present in more than 25,000 newborn infants every year."

He adds that modern surgery and advances in research have turned a once literally hopeless outlook into a bright future for many of these children and their parents. Deaths from congenital heart defects have been reduced to about 8,000 per year.

Although science can't pinpoint why the unborn infant's heart develops abnormally in many cases, it has been established that some heart defects can be caused if the mother is exposed to certain medicines during pregnancy. And if a woman contracts German measles (rubella) during the first three months of her pregnancy, her child may be born with a defective heart.

"This is why women should get a rubella inoculation early in life, and in no case less than two months before they become pregnant," Dr. Rapaport emphasizes.

Rheumatic fever is another childhood disease that can lead to a lifetime of heart problems, the Heart Association spokesman says.

"That seemingly simple sore throat can spell trouble for your child. Not all sore throats will develop into rheumatic fever, but a 'strep' infection can and often does."

If a streptococcal infection is neglected, it can lead to rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease. This can damage heart valves, and bring on the possibility of open heart surgery later in life.

"But with the help of antibiotics, the infection can be stopped before heart damage occurs, and surgery can correct or replace the defective heart valves in many cases," the doctor adds.

Children aren't immune to the other so-called heart diseases of "aging," Dr. Rapaport asserts:

"High blood pressure has been detected in teenagers. And autopsies performed on children and young adults who died in accidents or from other causes have revealed the early stages of atherosclerosis, often called hardening of the arteries. Both can lead to heart attack and stroke later in life."

That's why Dr. Rapaport recommends that parents develop heart-healthy family lifestyles which can help reduce the risk of heart attack and stroke. He urges parents to set an example for their children by not smoking cigarettes, or at least cutting down, and suggests eating foods that are low in saturated fats and cholesterol, getting moderate daily exercise, and — most important — periodic medical checkups for the whole family.

He adds that the American Heart Association, now conducting its annual Heart Fund campaign, has free information on how you can protect your heart.

On Saturday Youth Blitz meets 6 p.m. at the church and the movie "The Enemy" will be shown for students in grades 7-12.

Daylight Time Starts Feb. 23

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clocks across the country will be set forward one hour on Feb. 23 as the nation ends four months on standard time.

Beginning at 2 a.m. on Feb. 23, Daylight Saving Time will be in effect for eight months. Then unless Congress intervenes the regular alternating pattern of standard time six months and daylight time six months a year will be resumed in October.

Congress put the nation on 10 straight months of daylight time last year in an energy conservation step. The nation switched to standard time for the four winter months last Oct. 27.

Answers For Veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each week The Herald will publish a series of questions and answers of interest to veterans. These questions and answers are some of the many presented to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. Any veteran desiring further information on any question presented in this column, or having any question concerning his Veterans Administration Benefits should contact the Veterans Service Officer in the basement of the Pickaway County Court House.

(Q) Can a veteran actually reserve grave space in a national cemetery?

(A) Any veteran whose separation from the service was for reasons other than dishonorable is eligible for burial in a national cemetery, but advance reservations are not accepted. You should be advised, however, that each veteran is entitled to only one grave because of space limitations. Next-of-kin may no longer be buried in graves of their own and must share the space with the deceased veteran.

(Q) What progress is being made by the states in enacting legislation to switch Veterans' Day back to November 11?

(A) Forty-one states have adopted such legislation. The nine states which have not are: Alabama, Colorado, Hawaii, Maryland, Nevada, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Texas and Utah.

(Q) I seek clarification of the VA auto grant eligibility. It seems to me that during World War II if a man was injured in his barracks and later retired for that disability, he could qualify. But it has been tightened up for later veterans. In 1959, my left arm and leg were disabled because of brain surgery while on active duty. When I applied, the VA turned me down, stating my condition was not a direct result of the performance of military duty. What is the story on this?

(A) When Congress extended the VA auto grant, a stricter restriction was placed on qualification for service after January 31, 1955 (other than in the Viet Nam era). The disability must be shown to have been a direct result of performance of active duty.

(Q) I entered military service before completing high school. I was honorably discharged last month after four years of duty. Can I get free GI Bill benefits while finishing high school?

(A) Yes. Veterans in your category may receive educational assistance without charge against basic entitlement. That entitlement thus remains available for post-secondary schooling.

(Q) I was honorably separated in March after four years' active service. I know that I am eligible for GI Bill benefits, but can I also get a business loan from the VA?

(A) VA's authority to make business loans is limited to those who served before January 31, 1955. However, business loans are available to veterans from the Small Business Administration. Contact a field office of the central office, 1441 L Street NW, Washington, D. C. 20416.

Dinner For Four

Beef stroganoff, buckwheat groats, peas, salad, pineapple grapefruit.

Pineapple Grapefruit

Pretty and refreshing.
2 seedless grapefruit
8-ounce can sliced pineapple in pure pineapple juice, undrained
4 maraschino cherries, preferably with stems

Halve grapefruit and cut away sections from dividing membranes. Remove sections to a bowl and add pineapple juice; chill along with pineapple slices. Gently squeeze juice from grapefruit shells and use some other way. Loosen and remove membrane from grapefruit shells and discard; refrigerate shells, covered. At serving time, with a slotted spoon, put grapefruit sections into shells; top each with a pineapple slice and add as much of the pineapple juice as the shells will hold. Put a cherry in the center of each pineapple slice. Makes 4 servings.

Family Dinner

Meat Loaf, potatoes, green beans, carrot slaw, cake with sugarless frosting.

Sugarless Frosting

A reader, glad to have our corn-syrup cake recipe, has asked us to give this one.

1½ cups light corn syrup
2 egg whites
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

In a small saucepan cook corn syrup over medium heat, stirring often, until boiling; continue cooking without stirring to 240 degrees on a candy thermometer or until syrup spins a 2-inch thread. Meanwhile in a small bowl, at high speed of electric mixer, beat egg whites and salt until stiff; with mixer at medium speed, gradually beat in hot syrup; continue beating at high speed until soft peaks form — 5 minutes; beat in vanilla. Use as filling and frosting for two 9-inch cake layers.

Dinner To Precede Business Meeting

A carry-in dinner beginning 6:30 p.m. Wednesday will precede a business meeting planned by Women's Society of Scioto Chapel United Methodist Church in the Robtown Parish House.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Leaves Her, Then Libels Her

DEAR ABBY: I married during college, and my husband left me two years later while I was pregnant with my first child. Living across the street was a man I'll call "Jim." He was a professor, and we became good friends. Jim was wonderful to me, bringing me meals he had prepared, and looking after me as though I was his little sister. I asked him to be my child's godfather. I felt safe with Jim because he was a homosexual.

Two years ago, I married Jim's brother, then a widower with three children. We've had a fantastically good marriage, but last night we had a foolish argument and my husband lashed out at me and said: "I have never thrown up to you the fact that you were a prostitute and your first husband was a pimp." (It came out that Jim had told him that my first husband had told him that.) Abby, my ex was a rat who could have said something like that, but the fact that Jim actually believed it and told his brother, who also bought it, is something I just can't handle.

Today my husband tried to assure me that he didn't believe that story, but I'm not convinced. I'm so upset I missed work today, something I never do.

Should I confront Jim? I don't want to put my husband in the middle, but he has to know it is a lie. If it weren't for the children, I think I'd have committed suicide last night. Please help me.

NO PLAY FOR PAY

DEAR NO: If you've had a "fantastically good marriage," believe your husband when he assures you that he doesn't believe that story. Put it out of your mind, and don't confront Jim unless your husband repeats the accusation. If he does, then talk to Jim and get the whole ugly mess settled once and for all.

DEAR ABBY: Lately, my mother, who is 43, and my father, who is 44, have started to act like they just got married. I am 12 and have an older sister and two younger brothers who said they noticed it, too.

Mom and Dad got a book entitled "The Joy of Sex," and one night I heard my Dad ask my mother if she wanted to try something new. I really thought this was disgusting. I am losing respect for them. Or am I wrong to feel this way?

MIXED-UP KID

DEAR MIXED: You're wrong. You ought to be happy that your parents find each other so appealing. (Lots of kids have parents who fight instead.) Responsible sex is joyous, and it's perfectly respectable.

DEAR ABBY: Here's one I bet you've never been asked before: About once a week, my mother, father, husband and I get together and play penny poker. I invited our 12-year-old son to sit in with us, and I taught him how to play. He caught on very quickly and loves the game. He has a newspaper route, so he has his own money.

He can hold his own with the rest of us, but now I'm wondering if we didn't make a mistake.

Are we instilling the love of gambling in this boy? Should I now refuse to let him play? Now that he has come to enjoy it so much, he begs to join us.

Thank you for some sound advice.

SAN DIEGO MOM

DEAR MOM: Card playing sharpens one's wit and is good exercise for the mind. I see nothing wrong with teaching the boy to play poker. But not for money, Mom. He'll learn that on his own soon enough.

Baptist Women Schedule Meeting

Women of First Baptist Church have scheduled a meeting for 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at the church. Nursery service will be provided.

Dinner Celebrates 30th Anniversary

The 30th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Davis, Route 1, Chillicothe was celebrated by friends and relatives gathering for a steak dinner on Monday evening.

Present for the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Al Houser and Todd, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Reagan, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ankrom and Becky, Miss Carol Lesley, Mrs. Marie Goodman, the honored guests and their daughter, Susan.

Later in the evening they all were served ice cream and cake in the Davis home.

Kitchen Band To Entertain

The Forever Young Kitchen Band of Pickaway Senior Center held its recent meeting at the center with 10 members present.

Pauline Pearce, president, led members in repeating "The Lord's Prayer." Lucille Scott asked the band to entertain Esther Circle of Community United Methodist Church on Feb. 12th, which was accepted.

The band recently entertained residents of Brown Memorial Home and are planning to entertain at Circleville Manor.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — President Ford has adequately publicized the harsh outlook for those most immediate and obvious signs of the nation's health — jobs, prices, energy — but there's much more wrong with the economy. Underlying the distressful statistics is a feeling that the men and institutions of the country are inadequate or irresponsible to its problems.

Just a few months ago the American people were told by the administration that there was no recession, and behind that judgment lay the opinions and resources of what should be the best informed minds in the country.

A feeling exists among businessmen, union leaders and government officials that many institutions are out of whack with the times, and that they aren't likely to synchronize with reality very soon.

Some regulatory agencies, by admission even of their own officials, are badly out of tune with the times. Special interest regulations and other practices whose rationale has been lost, cost taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars a year. Studies by the government itself confirm this.

The Interstate Commerce Commission requires certain delivery trucks to return home empty. The Civil Aeronautics Board rejects an application by an airline to fly scheduled New York-London flights for $125 each way.

There is widespread dissatisfaction with the relative powers of federal, state and local governments.

Beyond the country's borders, the whole world is changing. Power is shifting. The patterns of trade are changing. And people wonder if there exists the proper machinery and mentality for coping with the change.

The problems are not solely in the public sector. So-called private enterprise is suffering its own distortions. "Mature" companies now seem to settle into a bureaucratic, noncompetitive niche that steers toward insolvency.

Rather than seeking reorganization through bankruptcy, some executives prefer to seek federal aid and even think it is their right. Sometimes they hold hostage the jobs and general wellbeing of thousands of workers.

Eugene Jennings, professor at Michigan State University and confidential adviser to many corporate chairmen and presidents, believes many of today's top executives aren't competent to handle the myriad problems thrown at them.

Most, he explains, worked up through their companies during the boom days of the 1960s, when the only criterion of an executive's performance was in sales and profits. His focus was narrow.

In their quest for those profits, corporate management sometimes drained energy from the company, leaving it without the physical plant and managerial competence to meet environmental, political, and economic problems so common today.

Companies that developed elaborate fringe benefits programs during good times now find themselves forced to curtail their benefaction. Because of a depressed stock market, corporate pension programs are costing dearly.

But even the best of companies are being thwarted by institutional malfunction. The Committee of Publicly Owned Companies, made up of solid, middle-size companies, complains its members can't sell their shares.

Why? Because the big institutions — the funds, trusts, insurers — that dominate the markets concentrate their interest on 100 stocks or so. The public, which used to make up what was called a random market, has withdrawn.

DELIVERED BEFORE MARCH 1st

If you thought you couldn't afford a new car, our low prices on this and all Novas could change your mind. In addition, you may get more when you trade in your present car, thanks to today's unusually high values on most used cars.

Something else that can put you money ahead is Chevrolet's new Efficiency System that's designed to run leaner (more economically), run cleaner on unleaded fuel (to meet federal emission standards), and save money every mile compared to last year's Nova. This system is designed to improve performance and gas mileage, extend mileage between oil changes and chassis lubrications, and allow fewer and simpler tune-ups.

Drop by soon and test drive Nova. We think you'll be impressed by its new European styling plus improved ride and handling—in a wide choice of eight models and four engines (two in California).

Considering all this, and our low prices too, how can you go wrong with Nova?

Nova Comparison Days are on. Come in now.

White House-Church Rift Mended

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
More direct and friendlier relationships are being restored between the U.S. President's office and the leaders of major Christian denominations, ending a prolonged, hostile rift between them and the White House.
The change in attitudes was signaled last week when 35 top officials of main church bodies spent an hour in conference with President Ford at the executive mansion.

It was the first time in 10 years that an American president had invited leaders of the major churches to meet with him, although such contacts had been a regular aspect of earlier administrations.
But the lines of communication had frayed and broken while the late President Lyndon B. Johnson was in office because of the church leaders' spearheading of criticism of Vietnam war policies.
The deep-freeze continued during former President Richard M. Nixon's administration.

Although he had contacts with some evangelical ministers, such as Billy Graham and picked participants in White House religious services, the not-welcome sign was up to leaders of the main denominations.

In that period, they often found themselves on the peacicket lines outside the White House, their efforts to present church statements rebuffed.

However, President Ford indicated that last week's meeting was only the beginning of a continuing dialogue with religious leaders, according to the Rev. Dr. James Christison, of Valley Forge, Pa., general secretary of the American Baptist Convention.

The Rev. Dr. W. Sterling Cary, of Hinsdale, Ill., a United Church minister and president of the National Council, called the meeting "very, very encouraging." He added:

"While there may be differences of opinion between the church group and the President on issues, President Ford assured the religious leaders their views will be heard."

Ford, an Episcopalian, told the group he was designating an assistant, Ted Marrs, as the President's personal liaison officer with the council and member denominations.

They include 31 major U.S. bodies of Methodists, Episcopalians, Presbyterians, Christians (Disciples), United Church (Congregationalists), Lutherans, Baptists, and Eastern Orthodoxy, totaling 42 million members.

At the meeting with Ford, the discussion centered on issues of human rights in countries supported by U.S. aid, such as South Korea and South Vietnam, U.S. food aid abroad and effects on the poor of rising costs of food stamps.

THE STEPS OF LENT

Between Ash Wednesday and Easter Sunday there are forty days? No, that's not quite right.

Between Ash Wednesday and Easter Sunday there are forty weekdays—and six Sundays. Traditionally the weekdays were the Lenten fast, the Sundays were festivals of Christian worship.

If your faith has taught you to observe Lent: by foregoing pleasures or adding new religious experiences or both. . . those Six Sundays are occasions for taking inventory of your spiritual progress.

If yours is a religious background that does not emphasize Lent, those Six Sundays are still milestones on the way to the great Christian celebration of Christ's Resurrection—Easter!

And if, perchance, you have never given much attention to spiritual matters, those Six Sundays (and the thoughtful days between) are an invitation from your Lord. . . to walk with Him the path He walked for You.

Rotarians Hear Scenic River Designation Explained

Steve Goodwin, a member of the planning commission of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, was the speaker at Circleville Kiwanis Club meeting Thursday held at the L-K Restaurant.

Goodwin explained the difference between the "scenic" and "wild river" designations and what such designations meant to landowners and developers along these streams.

He showed slides on the proposed Big Darby Creek Scenic River. The "scenic river" designation is being opposed by the city of Columbus because the city plans to build a reservoir in Madison County to be used as a water supply.

Think Onassis On Way To U.S. For Treatment

PARIS (AP) — Aristotle Onassis flew here, reportedly to enter the American Hospital. But there was strong speculation that he was on his way to the United States for treatment.

The ailing, 69-year-old Greek shipping magnate walked unaided Thursday night from his limousine to his Paris apartment house and said "good evening" to newsmen waiting on the sidewalk.

Onassis was accompanied by his wife, the former Jacqueline Kennedy, and his 24-year-old daughter, Christina.

Family sources said Mrs. Onassis insisted that he be moved from Athens for treatment abroad. He suffers from myasthenia gravis, a progressive weakening of the muscles, and his condition has been complicated by influenza which he developed last week while at his villa in an Athens suburb.

Informed sources reported Thursday that Onassis would be taken to the American Hospital, in suburban Neuilly. After he went to his apartment instead, the director of the hospital, Jean-Yves Perchat, said the multimillionaire "wants to make as discreet an entry as possible. It's possible he won't come tonight."

However, there was considerable speculation that the talk of hospitalization in Paris was a smokescreen to throw newsmen off the trail and that New York was his destination.

Onassis was treated there several months ago for myasthenia gravis, and his doctor, Isadore Rosenfeld, returned to New York Wednesday after flying to Athens when his patient became ill.

Mrs. Onassis flew from New York to Athens last Monday after he reportedly telephoned for her. Family sources said Christina and her father's Greek doctors opposed his being moved abroad, but his wife prevailed.

Forecast

Partial clearing and cold tonight. Lows 10 to 15. Cloudy with a chance of snow flurries Saturday. Highs in the mid to upper 20s.

NORTHWEST INLAND WEST LAKE SHORE

Partly cloudy tonight. Lows near 10. Increasing cloudiness and a chance of snow flurries Saturday. Highs in the mid 20s.

WEST CENTRAL CENTRAL SOUTHWEST SOUTHEAST

Clear tonight. Lows 10 to 15. Increasing cloudiness Saturday and a chance of snow flurries. Highs in the upper 20s.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The cold weather that moved into Ohio Thursday and last night is expected to continue for a while, with below normal temperatures forecast into the first part of the week.

The snow flurries that accompanied the change to colder temperatures were generally light or traces. However, snow remained on the ground this morning with an inch at Toledo, two inches at Cleveland and Akron, and three at Youngstown, according to the National Weather Service.

Clearing conditions were forecast this afternoon in western and southern Ohio, but snow flurries and squalls were to continue blowing off the waters of Lake Erie in northeastern Ohio.

Temperatures Thursday night dropped into the teens. At 6 a.m. this morning the cold spot was Toledo airport with a chilly eight degrees.

Readings this afternoon were to rise into the upper teens and low 20s, and drop to 10 to 15 again tonight.

Fair skies are expected tonight as a high pressure ridge moves eastward across the state. But another cold front, now in the Dakotas, is scheduled to move across Ohio Saturday, giving a chance of snow flurries again.

Home Economics Students Are Teachers In Pre-School

INTENT AT STORY TIME—Janet Spring, right, reads a story to very intent pre-schoolers in the Home Economics I study on youngsters at the Circleville Junior High School.

RING AROUND—Music and game time is obviously the most favorite for these pre-schoolers in the afternoon session of the Circleville Junior High School Home Economics I workshop. Here they enjoy a spirited version of "Ring Around The Rosey."

By DAVE AMEY
Herald City Editor

"It's been really hectic, but an awful lot of fun," said Mrs. Wendy Clutterbuck, Circleville schools' Home Economics instructor, who was evaluating the two-week pre-school conducted by her students.

The pre-school which ends Friday, was designed by Mrs. Clutterbuck to coincide with a study unit on child development in her Home Economics I classes at the Circleville Junior and Senior High schools.

Besides giving the students practical experience in working and playing with children three to four years old, it also gave the pre-schoolers a chance to enjoy a structured, school atmosphere.

Three sessions were held each day. The early morning session at the high school had 13 pre-schoolers and 17 students; the morning session at the junior high attracted 20 pre-schoolers for the 16 Home Ec. students; and there were 17 youngsters in the afternoon session at the junior high for 19 students.

Each class followed Mrs. Clutterbuck's schedule, which included music and games, stories, art and craft, rest period, snack, and free play.

The 52 home economics students (9th graders at the junior high and sophomores and juniors at the high school) was responsible for three different activities in the three-week period.

They were evaluated in performing each of their tasks by Mrs. Clutterbuck, and in turn, they completed short evaluations of each of the pre-schoolers following the first week.

Besides actually entertaining the children, the students were responsible for planning the activity, selecting the needed materials, and discussing their selections with Mrs. Clutterbuck.

Students in the three home economics classes apparently liked the contact with the youngsters, according to Mrs. Clutterbuck, who has requests to continue the classes next year.

"The junior high girls really had fun with the youngsters," she said. But the surprise were the several male home economics students at the high school who took a great interest in the youngsters.

Mrs. Clutterbuck, a first-year teacher with the Circleville schools, came up with the idea from a child development course she attended at Ohio State University. As an outgrowth of the course, she worked in two pre-schools in the Columbus area, one at Ohio State and one at an OSU co-op.

MAKING PUPPETS—Sylvia Garner, right, helps Brent Puckett make a paper-bag puppet during pre-school instructional craft classes at the Circleville Junior High. Working on their own are Donald Blankenship and Glenna Zickafoose.

CRAFT TIME—Bonnie Salyers, center, gives some advice to Nicole Baker, left, and Denise Sheets, on the construction of paper-bag puppets. The pre-schoolers have art and craft sessions each day.

Renovation Grant Awarded For Mansion

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Historic Site Preservation Advisory Board has approved a $15,000 federal grant to the University of Akron for repair and restoration of the 103-year-old Howser House mansion.

The university announced the grant Thursday, saying it must be matched with local contributions.

out those youths or adults encouraging and aiding youths who are setting a pattern of leadership and service in their local communities. The LaSertoma Award recognizes and rewards these efforts with a citation and attempts to inspire and encourage other youths to emulate these recognized leaders.

In charge of the local award are members of the Circleville LaSertoma Club. They look for nominees in area schools; youth organizations, such as Girl or Boy Scouts, Junior Red Cross, Boy's Clubs, YMCA and YWCA; hospitals; churches; special clubs for exceptional children; and schools for the handicapped.

Tammy is an active member of the Tiger Band, The Red and Black staff, the Service Over Self Club, the spirit committee, Student Council, and the Explorers Club.

DEBBIE DAVIS

DECA Girl Featured

By LEIGH HRTZ
Working at Pickaway Auto Parts as a secretary is DECA student of the week, Debbie Davis.

Debbie works at Pickaway Auto Parts an average of 17 hours each week. Some of the duties of her job include ordering parts, filing, price changing, and taking general inventory.

In DECA Debbie said she has learned how to run cash registers, write checks and make change. She thinks that it is easier to get a job if a student is in DECA because "you learn about jobs at school before you even go to work."

Debbie's likes include Randy, being with her friends, going out on Saturday night, and sleeping late. She said she dislikes unfriendly people and exams.

Debbie said her plans after graduation are undecided.

First Grade Teacher Returns

MRS. MARJORIE KOCH
By TAMMY DAVIS

"I feel that the early years in a child's education are very important in molding the entire future of each individual child," says Mrs. Marjorie Koch, new first grade teacher at Atwater Elementary.

Mrs. Koch comes from Mt. Sterling but now resides at 547 Mower Road with her husband, Richard, and their three-year-old son, Lance.

From Ohio State University Mrs. Koch earned a bachelor of science degree in elementary education. Mrs. Koch's previous teaching experiences include Atwater first grade for three years; Napoleon, Ohio, third grade for two years; Logan Elm District first grade for two years and kindergarten for one year.

Mrs. Koch is now active in Circleville Education Association, Ohio Education Association, National Education Association, Delta Gamma, and Beta Sigma Phi.

Mrs. Koch said, "Guiding the education of young children is a very

Good Citizen Award Given Mary Horst

By CAROL DeMINT
The Daughters of American Revolution's Good Citizen Award was recently presented to Mary Horst, Circleville senior. The DAR award is given every year to local senior girls who have shown dependability, leadership, service and patriotism to their community and school.

MARY HORST

Mary and Barb Painter were selected to take a written test on Ohio and American government and history by the teachers at CHS. The teachers' selection was based on the qualities of good citizenship shown by the girls. The girl receiving the highest score was presented with the award and will represent CHS in the state.

Red and Black, National Honor Society, Girls' Athletic Association, English Merit Society, projects chairman of the Service Over Self Club, and secretary of the senior class are some of Mary's activities. Mary is a member of the Trinity Lutheran Church. She said she plans to attend Ohio Northern University next year.

Mary resides at Route 2 with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Horst.

Vice-President Named In Special Election

By KATHY BOWERS
Senior Cathy Royster was elected vice-president of Student Council in a special election Tuesday. She replaces past vice-president Cheryl Brian, who recently moved to Wilmington, Del.

CATHY ROYSTER

"I was really happy to be chosen as an officer for Student Council," said Cathy.

The job of the vice-president is to attend all Student Council meetings and help the president and the other officers. She will also attend the SCOL Student Council meetings.

Cathy says that student councils do help. She also feels that CHS has the best student council around and that they've accomplished a lot of things for the students.

In her spare time Cathy said she enjoys seeing movies and listening to Todd Rundgren's music. She works part time at the Lamp Post.

Grapplers Go Against Wilmington

By TAMMY DAVIS
Although the wrestlers have not had an outstanding season up to now, they are expected to put up a fight against undefeated Wilmington for the SCOL title.

Coach Brent Bell said, "I am pleased with the way several wrestlers have improved this year. For a first-year wrestler Bill Mogan has done a fine job. Jim Cordle and Brett Christy have started to come on in the last meets, and John Payne has looked good all season. Bruce Brudzinski has improved greatly along with the rest of the team."

The Tigers will host Franklin Heights next Saturday at 7 p.m. They are also looking forward to having a good showing at Wilmington for the SCOL tournament February 15 at 1 p.m.

New Student Welcomed

PAULA MOSLEY

By BECKY MOOREHEAD
"Circleville is not as friendly as Westfall, but it's okay, except for the long school hours," is junior Paula Mosley's impression of CHS.

Paula resides at 1028 S. Court St. with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert J. Mosley, and three brothers and a sister.

At CHS Paula is a member of the girls' basketball team. She also is a member of the club Young Life, and in her spare time Paula plays the guitar.

Previously a student at Westfall, Paula was active in the girls' basketball and track teams, PTL club, and golf. She was also a reserve cheerleader.

Guidance Guidelines

By KIM MCGUIRE
Application forms for the federal financial aid program, known as the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG) Program, are available from the guidance department.

As much as $1,400 per student is available for students enrolled or to be enrolled in eligible institutions. These grants are to be used to pay tuition and fees and are not repayable.

Any student who is planning to attend post-high school education is encouraged to investigate this program.

One week remains in the enrollment period for the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational Center. Many program openings still exist for sophomores and juniors who are interested in job training for post-high school employment in business, home economics, trade, and industrial fields.

'50's Dance Sponsored By Council

By LINDA MORGAN
The nostalgia era has landed with a boom! Just look at the evidence around us, "Happy Days," "The Sting," "The Great Gatsby," the music melody of today, and the new style clothes from yesterday, and CHS's 50's Day and 50's Dance.

Bobbie socks, saddle shoes, skirts below the knees, and greased hair will make themselves at home at CHS during these events on next Friday. Both the day and the dance are sponsored by the Student Council.

The dance will start at 8 p.m. and will last till 11:30 p.m. Avec Amour will be the band playing the popular hits of the 50's.

The Circleville Herald, Friday February 7, 1975

Willie's Dillies

By A BENCHWARMER

This column would like to call attention today to our "Letters to the Editor" column on page 4.

Two Teays Valley fans have called us to task, and rightfully so, for the lack of credit given their wrestling team at the Hamilton Twp. tournament a week ago.

The problem is not one of favoritism, as one writer feels, but rather of a lack of communication. And since communication is a 2-way street, we accept our full share of the blame. But it is also the responsibility of the coaches, who realize The Herald does not have a staff member at every athletic contest in the county, to provide us with this information.

Last Monday, the Circleville High School coach, as he does after every meet, both reserve and varsity, provided us with the information. Naturally he was concerned with his wrestlers, and in a tournament he does not record all winners, as he would in a dual event.

We appreciate the letters for we learn how better to perform our job from constructive criticism as much as from praise. Those who have criticized have done half of their job. They should now send a letter to the coach.

Former CHS Coach Makes Baseball Hall Of Fame

Don Neff, Unioto High School's head baseball coach, was inducted into the Ohio High School Baseball Coaches Hall of Fame today during ceremonies at a luncheon of the coaches at the Center for Tomorrow in Columbus.

McDowell 8th Grade Team Wins MSL

The Logan Elm McDowell 7th grade cagers were defeated by Fisher Catholic Thursday, but the 8th graders rebounded for 38-22 win that gave them first place in their division.

In the 8th grade game, the win gives LE a 7-1 Mid-State League record and 10-1 overall mark.

They are winners of the Mid-State South cage division.

McDowell was never threatened in the game, opening leads of 10-6 after the first period, 20-10 at the half, and 26-18 after three quarters.

Brian Hannigan scored 10 points to pace the win, Terry Wright had nine, Dan Hill scored eight, and Tom Congrove scored six.

The tournament for the 8th graders will begin next week.

The 7th grade record dropped to 5-6 overall and 5-3 in the league.

Pete Rose Signs Pact With Cincy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Veteran Cincinnati outfielder Pete Rose, 33, came to terms with the Reds Thursday after vowing to go to arbitration rather than take a cut in his $160,000 salary.

Rose was scheduled to sign the contract today.

"I'm happy with it," said Rose, but declined to say whether he got the same salary or a cut due to his .284 batting average last season.

"My goal," said the 11-year-veteran, "is to hit better against Los Angeles."

The Dodgers beat the Reds out of the pennant in the National League West Division in 1974 and Rose hit only .158 against Los Angeles pitching.

Rose had confirmed earlier that the Reds had asked him to take a 23 per cent cut, calling his 1974 season an "off year."

Rose, acting through an agent, threatened to go to arbitration or play out his option rather than sign for less.

CHS Tigers Host MT Tonight

The Circleville Tigers will be looking for their 11th straight South Central Ohio League game and 16th straight game this year without a loss when they face Miami Trace tonight.

The game will be played on the Mill St. hardwood with the reserve tilt starting at 6:30 p.m.

While the current cage season has been a good one for the Tigers, the Panthers have had their share of hard times.

Tabbed as one of the top teams in the league before the season began, Miami Trace wasn't anywhere near the top when Circleville wrapped up the title Jan. 24.

And now, they are in the midst of a 3-6 league slate and 5-10 overall campaign.

Circleville actually started them on their way Dec. 20 in the first meeting of the schools, and they have lost their last four games, two in the league.

In that first meeting, Harold Reed scored 22 points and collected nine rebounds and George Moore popped in 16 and had 10 rebounds to pace Circleville to a 61-44 win.

Miami Trace used a 2-3 and 1-2-2 zone defense and the Tigers passed the ball around the perimeter until Reed or Moore could shake their men for easy scores.

The zone did hurt, however. The Tigers roared away to a 15 point lead early in the second quarter, but couldn't score in the last five minutes of the half to hold on to a 29-24 edge.

Circleville started strong in the third period, but MT came back to cut the margin to five late in the period before the Tigers ripped out to a 45-32 lead.

Dan Gifford scored 12 points in the game, Gary English hit for 10, and Robin Zurfaxe scored eight.

Allan Conners, who currently leads the Panthers in scoring with an 11.7 per game average, did not see action in the contest.

Trace has since juggled their starters. Expected to get the starting nod tonight at the guard posts are Art Schlichter and Rob Garringer. Gregg Cobb will be the center, and Conner and Gifford are expected to be the forwards.

Miami Trace has been averaging 58.7 points a game, while allowing 59.4. Circleville, the topped-ranked team in the Class AA Associated Press poll of sports writers and caster and third ranked in the UPI poll of coaches, will counter with their outstanding man-to-man defense and team balance.

The Tigers are allowing only 51.3 points in the first 10 SCOL games. And the offense is generating 68.9.

Senior co-captain Reed is the top scorer, averaging 19.6 points a game. Moore is averaging 12.1, senior co-captain Perry Hoskins is hitting for 11.6, and Biff Bumgarner is scoring 10.3 points a game.

Other Tigers expected to see action are starting guard Mike McCoy who is averaging 5.9 points a game, Brent Mancini, who is hitting 3.4, and Brad Spangler, who is scoring about five a game.

Incentive for Circleville in the game rests with their pride. The Tigers would like nothing better than to top Miami Trace Friday and Hillsboro Tuesday to go unbeaten in the league. Only three teams in league history have accomplished unbeaten seasons.

And, if they could add a win against Logan Elm next Saturday, they would be the first Circleville team in history to win all its regular season games.

Only thing left for other league members is to jockey for positions behind the Tigers. Greenfield and Hillsboro are locked in a second place tie at 6-4, Unioto is 4-5, the Panthers and Washington C.H. are 3-6, and Wilmington is 1-8.

The Circleville reserves could improve their 6-4 league record Friday by knocking off Miami Trace in the preliminary game.

The Panthers won the first meeting of the schools 34-30.

Here are the SCOL statistics:

Westfall Draws Licking Heights In Sectional Tilt

Westfall, with a 7-9 overall record, will play Licking Heights in the first game of the Class A Sectional basketball tournament at Groveport.

The Mustangs will lock horns with Heights 7:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 21.

Canal Winchester, as expected, drew the top seed in the Class A Central District. Fredricktown, with a 14-2 season record, are the second seed.

In the Groveport sectional, Fairbanks (7-8) will play Wehrle (6-9) in the second game Feb. 21 in the remainder of lower bracket games. Wehrle was the second seed in the sectional.

Canal Winchester will put their 15-1 season record on the line Feb. 22 when they play New Albany (8-7) in the upper bracket. Jonathon Alder (7-9) will play that winner in the upper bracket sectional finals March 1.

The winner of the Licking Heights - Westfall contest will play the winner of the Fairbanks - Wehrle game Friday, Feb. 28, at 9 p.m. to determine which team will represent the sectional lower bracket in the Central District tournament.

The district tournament will be March 3, 4, and 7. Two winners there will advance to the Dayton Regional. Licking Heights, 2-13 on the year, is not a big team, according to Westfall Coach Mike Eckle. His scouts will start reviewing their play tonight.

"Right now," he said, "we have to concentrate on our last two regular season games. Then we'll start worrying about Licking Heights."

Westfall hosts Adena tonight and then travels to Southeastern next Friday to end regular season play.

In the Lancaster sectional, Amanda-Clearcreek will play Lancaster Fisher Feb. 21 at 7 p.m. Fisher is the second seed in the sectional.

YMCA All-County Cage Skill Winners Listed

Winners have been announced in the YMCA All-County Pass, Shoot, and Dribble Contest, which was held Feb. 1 at the local Y.

All first place winners will be eligible to participate in the Optimist Clubs' Ross and Pickaway County District finals. Second place alternates will represent the local Y if first place winners are unable to attend.

Winners of the District finals will move up to the Regionals in Columbus, and then the top winners will progress to the state finals.

All first place winners will be eligible to participate in a Columbus YMCA-sponsored finals for YMCA branches only.

Winners were:

Eight-year-old - Joseph Hill, 98 points, Walnut Elementary; Matt Pritchard, Washington Twp.; Tommy Wright, Walnut Elementary.

Nine-year-old - Doug Hoover, 119 points' Ashville Elementary; Todd Sarchet, Nicholas Drive; Steve Seymour, Ashville.

10-year-old - Barry Sealock, 127 points, Atwater; David Justice, Atwater; Tommy Tomlinson, High Street.

11-year-old - Rodney Bumgarner, 147 points, Atwater School; Bryan Hupp, Saltcreek; Bob Milstead, Atwater.

12-year-old - Mike Whitten, 140 points, Westfall; Kerry Hardman, Saltcreek; Dallas Hettinger, South Court.

13-year-old - Anthony Smith, 137 points, Circleville Junior High; John LaFontaine, Logan Elm; David Road, CJHS.

The All-County Pass, Shoot, and Dribble Contest has been held for the past six years by the Ross County Optimist Club.

CHS Frosh Rip Panthers

The Circleville Freshmen upped their season mark to 12-1 with a convincing 38-31 win over visiting Miami Trace Thursday night.

After a 12-all first period, the Tigers of Coach Jim Diltz had a 20-19 lead at the half and 30-26 edge after three periods.

Dave Marshall and Toren Bensonhaver scored 10 points each to pace the win, Mark Albright canned eight, Mark Beck scored six, and Larry Reed hit for four.

Coach Jim Diltz praised Beck and Roy Huffer for their fine defensive efforts in the game.

Bill Hanners led the Panthers with nine points.

The Tiger Frosh will close out regular season play Tuesday when they travel to Whitehall for a 4:45 p.m. game.

They are scheduled to play in the South Central Ohio League freshman tournament later in the year.

Bowling Green Faces Miami

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coach Pat Haley says a victory at Miami of Ohio is not a matter of life and death for his Bowling Green team, leading that wild Mid-American basketball race.

"We figure we can lose one more game and still get a piece of the title," said Haley.

The Falcons, at 6-3, have a one-half game lead over Miami and Western Michigan, tied for second at 5-3.

Central Michigan (3-3), Toledo (4-4) and Ohio University (4-4) are only 1½ games in arrears of the leading Falcons, too.

"I've never seen anything like this race. It's a mess," said Haley, whose club will try Saturday to avenge an earlier home loss to the Redskins.

Of that nine-point loss, Haley said, "We took them too lightly. Our guys felt all they had to do was lace up their shoes and go out and win."

"Miami doesn't have any superstars and a lot of times that's good," continued the Bowling Green coach. "They know they have to play together."

Darrell Hedric, the Miami coach, is worried about Bowling Green's inside firepower of 6-foot-9 Cornelius Cash, 7-foot Mark Cartwright, 6-7½ Andre Richardson and 6-7 Skip Howard.

"We've got to keep them from coming inside. They're very inside conscious," said Hedric.

Both sides have physical problems. Cash and Dave Elmer, Miami's 6-11 center, missed their teams' last games, Cash with a foot injury and Elmer with a pulled back muscle.

With six of the league's eight teams having three or four losses, Hedric predicts the championship will not be decided until the final week.

"You've got to play them one at a time. That's the only way," said Hedric, whose team was picked to finish in the second division.

Bobby Fenton Jumps Into Bowling Lead

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bobby Fenton, 20-year-old Los Angeles sophomore, charged from 17th place into the lead of the $85,000 Copenhagen Open Bowling Tournament Thursday night by overwhelming six of eight match play opponents.

Bidding for his first Professional Bowlers Association title, the stocky righthander averaged 239 with games of 232, 197, 256, 246, 246, 225, 245 and 269.

Noted Harness Horse Trainer, Driver Dies

POMEROY, Ohio (AP) — Funeral services were scheduled here today for Sidney Spencer, who trained and drove harness horses for four decades. Spencer, 60, died in his Pomeroy home Wednesday.

Spencer led the nation's harness drivers with a .520 driving percentage in 1971. Working on a limited basis last year, he scored 12 victories, 17 seconds and seven thirds in 84 starts.

In the other conference games Saturday, Kent State is at Central Michigan Toledo at defending champion Ohio and Western Michigan at Eastern Michigan.

Nonconference assignments have Ball State at home for Illinois State and Northern Illinois at Wisconsin-Green Bay.

Meanwhile, Ohio State tries to halt a two-game Big Ten losing streak at Minnesota, an earlier nine-point victim of the Buckeyes in Columbus.

Ohio State is tied for fifth at 5-5 in the conference. The Gophers share second place with Purdue at 7-3.

In major independent play, Cincinnati visits Houston, Xavier goes to Marquette and Dayton awaits Tennessee-Chattanooga.

Ohio Conference pacesetter Marietta (8-2) should protect its lead at Ohio Wesleyan (2-7). Heidelberg and Wittenberg are tied for second at 7-2.

Heidelberg plays at Muskingum (5-4) and Wittenberg is at Mount Union (5-4).

In the Hoosier-Buckeye Conference, second-place Defiance (11-2) plays at rival Findlay (6-5) and Wilmington (5-7) visits Bluffton (0-12).

Malone (6-0) could clinch a tie for the Mid-Ohio Conference by winning at Rio Grande (5-2) and if Cedarville (3-3) defeats visiting Ohio Dominican (4-2).

In two other top independent attractions, Youngstown (16-3) goes to Buffalo and Akron (11-6) stays home for Bellarmine.

The Golden State Warriors didn't like it at all. The Warriors fans liked it even less. But the Washington Bullets came away with another victory.

The Bullets' Phil Chenier hit two free throws after the final buzzer to lift Washington to a 98-97 National Basketball Association victory over Golden State in Oakland. The fans thought the foul — if one was committed — came after the game had ended with the Warriors on top 97-96.

"All I can say is I thought we won the game," said the Warriors' Butch Beard.

Chenier agreed with the officials, who had to be escorted off the court by security guards as the fans threw paper cups and beer onto the floor.

"Sure he hit me: right here" the Washington guard said, pointing right forearm.

Rick Barry, who led Golden State with 34 points, stole the ball and fed Jeff Mullins for a three-point play with one minute remaining that put the Warriors ahead 97-96. But Barry missed two field goal attempts in the final minute and Washington came up with the ball with 11 seconds left.

Chenier missed one jumper from the left baseline, but came up with his own rebound. He went up again, this time from the left side of the key, and was fouled by Beard.

Chenier led Washington with 31 points, 17 of them in the final quarter.

In other NBA games Thursday, Cleveland defeated Portland 98-90, Atlanta stopped Detroit 111-98, Kansas City-Omaha edged Milwaukee 95-94 and Phoenix downed Seattle 112-105.

In the lone American Basketball Association game, the New York Nets crushed St. Louis 113-92.

The 1976 USGA Women's Open golf tournament will be played at the Rolling Green Golf Club in Springfield, Pa.

CHS Girls Swamp LE, 42-27

Paced by the 12-point, 20-rebound performance of Anne Frericks, the Circleville High School girl basketball team swamped Logan Elm 42-27 Thursday on the CHS floor.

Circleville had an 8-0 lead after the first period, but the Braves cut it to 14-7 at the half. The Tigers were on top 24-15 after three periods before exploding for 18 points in the final period.

Sue Crist scored 14 points for Circleville to lead all scorers. Becky Moorehead had eight points and four rebounds and Darla Hughes scored eight points and had two rebounds.

Diane Martin paced the Braves with 11 points. Rita Karshner canned six, Annette Roof scored four, and Terri Ebert, Hope Justice, and Beth Bell scored two each.

Circleville canned 20 of 62 shots from the floor for 32 per cent, had 32 rebounds, and 11 steals.

The win ups their record to 2-3 on the year. Wednesday, they were beaten 50-32 at Wilmington despite a 14-point game by Darla Hughes.

The Circleville reserve girls upped their mark to 5-0 with a 44-5 win over Logan Elm in the preliminary tilt.

Linda Holveck scored 10 points for Circleville, Kelly Steele had eight, Wanda Boyd, Nancy Radcliff, and Cindy Dayhoff scored six each, and Sue Radcliff and Sue Stevenson had two each.

Teresa Newman and Sheila Smith scored two points each for the Braves and Abby Rife canned a free throw. All the Brave points came in the second period.

Circleville shot 22 of 64 from the floor for 32 per cent, had 22 rebounds, and 15 steals.

Nancy Radcliff paved the way with five rebounds, Sue Radcliff had four, and Sue Stevenson, Kelly Steele, and Wanda Boyd had three each.

Paced by the six-point effort of Sue Radcliff, Circleville won the reserve game at Wilmington, 12-11.

LEADS THE WAY—Anne Frericks stretches high to fight for another rebound in Circleville's win over Logan Elm Thursday. Miss Frericks ripped away 20 rebounds and scored 12 points. In the midst of the battle are Circleville's Sulayne Young (42) and Rita Karshner and Hope Justice of the Braves. Watching are Diane Martin (34) and Lisa Leahy (11).

Bruins Top North Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Bobby Orr ain't what he used to be, he'll do until something better comes along.

"Orr is not the Orr of old," assistant coach Charlie Burns of the Minnesota North Stars said Thursday night. "His knees won't let him be. He used to own the game. He still does, to a certain extent, but he used to be up and down the ice all night. Now he just seems to pick his spots."

Orr's creaking 26-year-old bones had enough left to pick up two neat assists as the Boston Bruins edged the North Stars 3-2 on Gregg Sheppard's goal midway through the final period of the National Hockey League contest.

Orr fed Bobby Schumatz for the first goal just 52 seconds after the opening faceoff. Then, with Minnesota in front 2-1 late in the second period, he stole the puck to help set up Don Marcotte's tying goal. The doddering Orr has five goals and eight assists in his last five games and trails teammate Phil Esposito by four points in the scoring race.

For the boy or girl who has a savings account and wants to make it grow

Your son or daughter is saving money. To help him to go to college which takes big money nowadays. Or for some other worthwhile purpose. Or simply because he is the kind of person who likes to save. We can help them make their savings grow. With a newspaper route. It will be their own business. And it's the best opportunity today for a young person to make the figures in his savings book become bigger and bigger and bigger. Because, basically, a newspaper route is a good-paying business. Perhaps you would like to get started in this today by calling us. There may be a route available in your neighborhood. And that route could be yours.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You may not be able to complete as much as you desire, but do what you can, and do it well. You will not weaken your position as long as you put forth best efforts.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Usually you recognize opportunities and like to do something about them. This is a good day for grasping the best. Expect, too, fine cooperation from associates.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Concentrate on "musts" now, taking each in proper turn and managing them thoughtfully. You can make good progress if vigilant.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Accentuate the positive in your thinking if you would make the real advancement possible now. Routine activities may be happily supplemented by some new interests.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): You may run into some complicated situations. Analyze carefully; discriminate between fact and rumor. Don't reject a proffered idea before you have fully understood it, however.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Be alert to good offerings. Your aptitude lends itself to this type of day. Study, diversify your interests, broaden your horizons.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You are shaping future results NOW, so be rightly concerned about your course of action. Concentrate on what you do best.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Direct interests and undertakings discerning through the various channels offered. Use your quick-thinking mind to help you out of possible unpleasant involvements and don't let impulsive action get you into them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Jupiter propitious. Your talent for remembering and profiting by experience can be applied smartly now. New records can be set, but don't overtax yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Break your day down to definite essentials and eliminate the unimportant. Do not engage in untried projects except where "dry runs" seem feasible.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Note the fine points in complicated matters, affairs of import. Make statements, decisions with particular care. Past procedures may have to be changed.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Some fireworks indicated in personal and money matters. Beware of instability, emotionalism. Consult with others as to the best way to get on the productive road.

YOU BORN TODAY are a highly gregarious individual, endowed with great self-reliance, a lively imagination and an unusually outgoing personality. You combine artistry with practicality and can execute your truly brilliant ideas with finesse and dexterity. Your talents are many, but you could especially excel in the fields of journalism, literature, science, painting, music and the theater. You are extremely ambitious, but must be careful not to undertake too much or to scatter energies or you will capsize your own boat. Your sense of humor is outstanding. Birthdate of: William Tecumseh Sherman, Union General, U.S. Civil War; Jules Verne and John Ruskin, authors; Lana Turner, film star.

Exchange Greetings
NEW YORK (AP) — This city and Detroit exchanged electronic New Year's greetings seven hours each night for the entire month of January 1975.
The good will messages were communicated by means of the huge sign overlooking Times Square. Tributes flased on the spectacular screen came from New York's Mayor Abe Beame, Detroit's Mayor Coleman A. Young, Michigan Gov. William G. Milliken, Henry Ford II, Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers' Union, and other leaders of both cities.
One feature of the inter-city exchange was an electronic view of Renaissance Center in Detroit with the notation: "bigger than Rockefeller Center, the $500-million Renaissance Center in downtown Detroit will serve as an entertainment, convention and business center." Because of the energy crisis, the sign operated only between 5 p.m. and midnight.

Wheeler Rittinger Named NTPA 'Puller Of The Year'

Wheeler Rittinger, Route 5, a Pickaway County grain farmer, has been named Tractor Puller of the Year by the National Tractor Pulling Assn.

Rittinger has won many honors during the more than 20 years he has been driving tractors at pulling contests around the state and nation, but he is most proud of this one.

The NTPA has members from 18 states and Canada and sanctions pulls throughout the east, midwest and south. The Tractor Puller of the Year selection is based on sportsmanship, how the individual promotes the sport and his activities on a local, state and national level.

Wheeler has twice been a national point champion, winning an air conditioner for a tractor in 1973 and an all-weather cab for a tractor in 1974. He has also won the Ohio Tractor Puller of the Year Award.

The well-known Pickaway farmer first drove at the tractor pull at the 1951 Pickaway County Fair. And he hasn't stopped. He has no idea how many trophies or how much money in purses he has won through the years.

Wheeler just finished a 4-year term as a national director, he is currently a state director and was a charter member and the first president of the Central Ohio Tractor Pullers Assn.

He and his wife Normagene and son, Mike, have just returned from Indianapolis where they competed in the Indy Super Pull sanctioned by the NTPA. It was at this pull that Wheeler was awarded his Tractor Puller of the Year honor. At the Indy he also was given the all-weather tractor cab for being a high point puller.

In a few days they will be heading for Warner Robbins, Ga., the first stop on the southern tractor pulling tour. There are seven stops on the southern tour. Last year they made the tour, and their winnings were enough to pay expenses with a little left over.

When he started pulling back in 1951, it was a primitive sport that was limited primarily to the county fairs and held an interest only for farmers. At the first pulls, stock farm tractors were hitched to a flat sled upon which cement blocks were loaded. After each round of pulls, more weight was added to the sled until all competitors but one were eliminated.

The next step in the sport was the speed pull in which spectators lined the pulling route and stepped onto a big sled as it went by them until enough weight was added to make the tractors spin out or the course completed.

The tractors now pull a weight-transfer sled, engineered so more weight is added to the front part of the sled as it moves down the pulling course until the tractors spin out or pull the designated distance. Wheeler helped build the weight-transfer sled used by the COTPA and is operator of the state's sled.

In the early days of pulling there were few rules and regulations, no state or national organizations to sanction the pulls and no refinements in the engineering of the standard farm tractor.

Now it is a rarity to see a standard farm tractor in a pulling contest. Special chassis and engines are designed by the pullers themselves to their own specifications. These include designs with multi-motor power chains, tank and airplane engines and souped-up truck and automobile engines.

The Rittinger family has three pulling tractors, one powered by a 430 cubic inch Lincoln motor, one by a 454 fuel-injected Chevrolet engine and one by a 454 twin turbocharged Chevrolet engine. Junior Easterday does practically all of the major engine work for the Rittingers.

The chassis are designed and built by Paul Woods of Stoutsville. The Rittingers decide what they want in a pulling tractor and then Easterday and Woods engineer and build it. Two of the pulling tractors were built by modifying Farmall M chassis and one over a modified 650 International Harvester tractor rear end and frame. "It's real easy to get about $10,000 in a tractor," according to Rittinger.

Wheeler and Mike farm about 1500 acres and are on what they refer to as a "corn, soybean and Florida rotation." Last year they had about 1,000 acres in corn, 400 in beans and 100 in wheat. They finished planting the crops April 30 and were done harvesting Nov. 15. By Nov. 29 all the plowing for this year's crops was completed. The farm tractors consist of three huge four-wheel drive Internationals in the 150 horsepower range and two row crop tractors, an International 560 and an 806, for cultivation and the lighter work.

Wheeler used to feed cattle but feels that farming has developed into such a specialized business that he can no longer afford to take the time from his field work during the planting and harvesting season to properly run any kind of a feeding operation.

They do have about 20 brood cows and a cow-calf operation on one of the farms. The land on this farm is ideally suited to a cow-calf operation with running water in every field.

Wheeler is a firm believer in having enough equipment to get the job done in a hurry. Last year when they were picking corn, they had two semi trucks and three stake bed trucks so they had plenty of field storage capacity. Recently there has been a corn glut at the elevators, and they have to shut down frequently to catch up on drying and shipping corn.

With all this field capacity, Rittinger was able to keep right on harvesting even through the periods when the elevators were taking no corn. He has a new 12-row planter with no-till attachments to speed his spring planting.

PLANNING WINTER TOUR—Normagene and Wheeler Rittinger go over the winter tractor pulling tour through the south. They plan to leave on the tour the latter part of this month stopping first in Warner-Robbins, Ga., where he will compete in the first event of the circuit.

Retirement Plans Available To All

Nearly half of the employees in Pickaway County are not currently participating in an employer-sponsored retirement plan. Thus, they will have no supplement to Social Security benefits. But relief is on the way with the help of recently enacted Federal legislation.

This was disclosed recently in an interview with William A. Bennett, assistant cashier of The Second National Bank.

"For years, corporations have been allowed to make fully tax-deductible contributions to retirement plans for their employees," Bennett said. "Now workers can do the same by setting up Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA's)."

Under the new legislation, a worker may set up such an account so long as he is not presently covered under an employer-sponsored plan. Con-

Deputy Arrests Youth Shoplifting At Heck's

A 16-year-old Route 2, Amanda youth was arrested by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Bill Dountz, when he was apprehended shoplifting at Heck's Department Store, 10:40 a.m. Thursday.

According to Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, Steve Romeo, manager of Heck's caught the boy taking an 85 cent screwdriver from the hardware department of the store.

The youth was charged with petit theft and released to the custody of his parents.

Engineers Society Schedules Meeting

The Southern Ohio Chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers will hold their monthly meeting in Chillicothe Wednesday at the Holiday Inn.

The program for the evening will include a talk by John Bowling - Environmental Engineer for Mead Papers - who will discuss "Environmental Quality in a Paper Mill."

tributions up to $1,500 a year may be made and are fully tax-deductible even though the worker does not itemize deductions on his tax return.

Bennett explained that the earnings on an Individual Retirement Account are exempt from current taxation. "For the average worker," he said, "tax-free compounding can mean perhaps as much as $30,000 to $60,000 more in accumulated funds at retirement."

The new law could be a bonanza for working spouses, too, since anyone with an income can establish an IRA. Self-employed people can use the accounts in place of the more formal H.R.-10 plans.

The Second National Bank, which sponsors an IRA program, is offering a free booklet which describes these retirement savings plans in detail. Entitled, "How you can build a tax-sheltered retirement fund," it may be obtained by dropping in to either office or Second National, or by writing or phoning Marlene Fullen, branch manager, or William A. Bennett, assistant cashier, at 474-8891.
